Quattro - Bringing big business experience to small and medium sized companies

Experience tells us that many small and medium sized businesses are reluctant to seek help with ways to improve the day to day running of their company.

Let's dispel the myth; seeking guidance is not a sign of weakness. Quite the opposite, it shows a desire to develop, grow and take advantage of other companies' experience.

There is also an assumption that expertise and knowledge is time consuming and costly but this is not always the case.

What may be the right solution for one company may not be right for you, which is why everything we do is tailored around you and your business.

We strive to make the best use of the assets and systems you already have because all too often money is wasted on software and hardware that is not actually needed because the facilities are there within a business but what is lacking is the ability to use or adapt it.

"That's where we can help".

Our experience has been gained from a wide spectrum of companies in many different industries, which is why we are confident we can match our skills to the requirements of your company, enabling you benefit from our knowledge without the big business price tag.

Whether you are looking at simple improvements or wholesale changes we can help.

Typically what we do is take a bit of time to get to know you and your business, to help identify and understand the specific functions and issues your company faces. We review processes (IT, manual and automated) identifying your key areas of strength as well as potential development areas.

Following this, we produce a report detailing our recommendations including any costs and of course the benefits to you and your business.

Finally we agree an action plan with you. This needs to be realistic, measurable and timely but above all, it needs to be actually completed.

We can manage and deliver the whole project; from hardware to training, diagnostics to data security and from telesales to comprehensive marketing solutions.

Look at us as your one stop shop, where we can help with one off tasks or extensive multi-layered projects.

Contact us today to find out how we can help you and your business.
